

Expedition to Arctic Leaves Shortly

Accompanied by the nuclear submarine SARGO, a Navy expedition will soon leave the U.S. to explore the Bering and Chuckchee Seas and the Arctic Basin.

The icebreaker STATEN ISLAND and SARGO will participate in an exploratory cruise early in 1960.

The SARGO has been especially equipped for scientific under-ice research and is a sister ship of the SKATE which has made two Arctic cruises from the Atlantic.

Doctor Waldo Lyon of the Naval Electronic Laboratory has been named as Civilian Research